Coast Net Closes On Escaped Trio

Sheriff's deputies, highway patrolmen and Coastside residents Wednesday were scouring the Lobitas Canyon country in an effort to find three youths who abandoned a stolen car after it ran into a ditch.

A fourth youth, whose name was not learned immediately, was captured shortly after noon by the deputies.

According to the sheriff's office, the youths drove into a filling station in Lobitas Canyon about 10:15 a.m. They were driving a 1942 Chevrolet sedan which the sheriff's office later learned had been stolen in San Francisco.

Mrs. Rose Francis, one of the operators of the service station, telephoned Dispatcher Willie Nardelli about 10:30, to say that after the car's tank was filled, the youths drove off without paying.

The car tore around a curve some 200 yards from the filling station, skidded in the mud and plunged into a ditch.

Dep. Sheriff Don Hartnett was dispatched from Half Moon Bay and Dep. James Beatty from Pescadero. They were joined later by Ocean Shore Police Chief William Regar from Sharp Park, state highway patrolmen from Redwood City, and by Deps. Paul Jensen and Peter Bolich, also from Redwood City.

The search was being concentrated in the rugged brush-covered country around Lobitas Creek, about eight miles south of Half Moon Bay. A heavy rain was pouring down during the search, drenching the officers and the handful of Coastside residents who joined the search this afternoon.

Milk Hearing Here March 21

A hearing to determine whether any changes should be made in the price of milk is slated for March 21 at the courthouse.

The State Agricultural Dept. announced Wednesday that a series of hearings will be conducted throughout Northern California during the next month to decide the need for adjusting current rates.

At present, the price for milk at stores in the Redwood City area is 19½ cents a quart. Several price increases have been permitted by the agriculture department since the war ended. Raises have generally been ½ to 1 cent at a time.

Greer Kin Dies At Palo Alto Home

Mrs. Esther L. Greer Braga, 53, niece of the late John Lucas Greer, Palo Alto pioneer, died Sunday at the home of her mother, Mrs. Mary Greer, 785 Newell Rd., Palo Alto.

Her survivors include her husband, John V. Braga, and her daughter, Maria Louise Braga, student at San Jose State College. All three had been living at the old family home in Woodside.

A son, Russell V. Braga, was killed while serving with the marines on Iwo Jima. Other survivors include her sisters, Ellen and Mercedes, and two brothers, Julius H. Greer of Palo Alto, and John W. Greer. The redwood timbers of the Braga home in Woodside were brought down from the hills to build a 22-room mansion for the Greer family on Churchill Ave., Palo Alto, in 1862.

Boy Falls From Car, Fractures Skull

Jerry Hunter, 4, suffered a fractured skull Sunday when he fell out of an automobile driven by his father on El Camino Real.

His father, Carl Hunter, 32, 159 North Delaware St., San Mateo, took the child directly from the scene of the accident to Mills Memorial Hospital and then reported it to Redwood City police.

He told police the accident took place some time between 8:30 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. between Brewster and Whipple Aves.

The child, he continued, fell out of a northbound car. The fatner said that possibly the youngster leaned against a door causing the latch to unfasten.

Mills attaches said this noon that his condition was "satisfactory."

EXECUTIVE ARRESTED

George H. Fosom, 45, who gave his occupation as a San Francisco business executive, was arrested Tuesday night by the California Highway Patrol on a drunk driving charge. Folsom was picked up on Junipero Serra Blvd. near Colma. He was driving a car owned by the Bay Cities Engineering Co., which he listed as his employer.

Chief Checks Belmont Gaming

Belmont's police chief, O. Walter Lindholm, Saturday made an inspection tour of all Belmont establishments having amusement machines, and warned the owners that the police department would crack down on anyone "paying off over the counter," Sgt. James Lyall announced Monday.

Lyall said Lindholm advised all bars and places having amusement machines that signs must be posted that no payoffs would be permitted.

Plasterer Arrested On Driving Charge

James F. Kelly, 18, 126 Ebener St., a plasterer, was arrested by Redwood City police Tuesday on a charge of reckless driving.

He was arrested on a warrant signed by Police Sgt. Cole Stafford after a number of complaints from the Sequoia High School area. Bystanders who turned license numbers over to police said the youth raced around the school, sometimes skidding on two wheels.

He was released from the San Mateo County jail on $100 bail.

Thief Takes $4 Here From Polio Fund Box

Police said that the empty container was found in a wash room at the restaurant at 2300 Broadway.

URGE NEW 'CAPRICORN AFRICA' — Representatives of Northern and Southern Rhodesia and Nyasaland met to draft a proposal for creation of a new dominion uniting British lands between the Equator and the Tropic of Capricorn, as shown in dark shading on map above. The plan calls for a Central African Dominion, composed of the two Rhodesias and Nyasaland and an East African Dominion, composed of Kenya, Tanganyika and Uganda, with final federation of the two as "Capricorn Africa." Supporters of the plan, pointing to potential strategic, economic and political advantages, say such a federation would be one of the most important events in African history.

Statistics Show Steady Gain In California Mental Cases

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Statistics provided an urgent challenge today to the opening session of Governor Warren's conference on mental health.

Figures given out by the State Department of Mental Hygiene showed no letup in the upward trend of hospital admissions. Every month, more patients are jamming into the nine institutions for the insane and four for the mental deficient.

In January, the 13 hospitals had a total of 36,184 inmates—17,756 men and 18,428 women. This was an increase of 1105 from December and of 1917 from January, 1948.

The augmented population strained the mental hospitals to 17.8 per cent over capacity; the institutions for mental deficients to 16.8 per cent.

Governor Warren called the two-day conference to see what California can do to improve the care and treatment of its mentally ill. He recently took note of the overcrowding as a "perfectly deplorable situation."

And even when California catches up with its present shortages in mental hospital facilities, the governor said it still will need a new 300 patient hospital every 18 months.

Warren invited nearly 1000 persons to the conference. They include leading psychiatrists, social workers, teachers, peace officers, judges, parent-teacher representatives and newspaper editors.

In addition to general sessions, the delegates will attend nine section meetings. The discussion panels and their chairmen:

Preventive mental hygiene, Dr. Wilton L. Halverson, state director of public health; community treatment and welfare services, C. Whit Pfieffer, executive secretary, Los Angeles Community Welfare Federation; institutional treatment and care of the mentally ill, Dr. Karl M. Bowman, medical superintendent, Langley Porter clinic.

Mentally deficient and other mentally handicapped, Dr. Tracy Jackson Putnam, chief neurosurgeon, Cedars of Labanon Hospital, Los Angeles; mentally abnormal offenders, Judge William B. McKesson, Los Angeles Superior Court; personnel, Dr. Norman Reider, Mt. Zion Psychiatric Clinic.

Admission and release procedures, Judge W. Turney Fox, Los Angeles County Superior Court; problems of the aged, William R. Harriman, director, Rancho Los Amigos, Los Angeles; and alcoholism, Dr. Milton Chernin, dean, school of social welfare, University of California.

Synthetic rubber for tire treads will increase wear more than 30 per cent over the best natural rubber treads. The key to the manufacture of these new treads is the fact that they are produced at zero Fahrenheit temperature.

Missing San Francisco Supervisor Fonud Selling Bibles in Houston

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A thread from the past which Chris Jepsen Christensen, San Francisco elective official, left more than a year ago will be introduced today into the new life he was trying to create alone.

His wife, who thought him dead, is scheduled to arrive by airplane (4:30 p.m., PST) from San Francisco.

Christensen, 44, said he has no plans, that he's just waiting for his wife.

He turned up here last night, a Bible salesman.

"I've been doing what I want to do all day," he said. It was his first day as a Bible salesman. He said his profit was $13.50.

Christensen disappeared Jan. 13, 1948, soon after his election as a city supervisor. For a time, he was sought in Southern California and Arizona.

In a rambling monologue, Christensen said:

"I went into politics unfortunately—then the pressure came thick and fast. . . . I represented the people and I was going to do a job for the people, but there was a machine set up. You can't buck it."

Dion Holm, San Francisco city attorney, said Christensen would have no right to his post if he returns to San Francisco. Holm said since he left without permission and since notice of the subsequent appointment of James L. Halley to succeed Christensen had been given properly by Mayor Elmer Robinson, the former supervisor had lost his post.

Arthur J. Dolan Jr., chairman of Christensen's campaign, said no pressure was placed on Christensen by his group.

In San Francisco, Christensen's wife, Juanita, said "if he wants me, I'll take him back."

Christensen spent last night in a room of the Rice Hotel, one of the better hotels here, not in the aged rooming house where he was found.

When he arrived at his rooming house last night Ted Walsh of Dist. Atty. A. C. Winborn's staff and reporters were waiting for him.

They had traced him through an employment agency.

He did not deny his identity, but said he had not known who he was for months.

"I began to get a straight picture of who I was three or four months ago," he said. That was in Tucson, Ariz.

He came to Houston to start all over because he thought it "was a coming city."

He had been in office about a week when a note from him was found on the Golden Gate Bridge. That was the last trace of him until last night. His family feared he had jumped from the bridge.

Mrs. Christensen has been working in an insurance office. The money she earns provides her support and pays premiums on her husband's insurance policy. In the absence of a body a lapse of seven years is required to establish death.

As Christensen told his story he fingered his gray trousers. "I used to pay $125 for a suit. This one cost me $4 at a church rummage sale."

In San Francisco Christensen was a director of the Chamber of Commerce and held office in the California Retail Jewelers Assn. He was a vice president of Granat Brothers Jewelers.

SF Supervisors Urge Caution on Bridge Plan

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The board of supervisors yesterday was urged to view with caution a proposal to make the Golden Gate Bridge a part of the state highway system.

A bill containing such a proposal is before the legislature.

John L. McNab, attorney for the bridge and highway district, said the bill can be interpreted many ways.

The county, state and national affairs committee of the supervisors tabled action for a month.

CALIFORNIA POLL: Public Against Boost in Wages

BY MERVIN D. FIELD
Director, The California Poll

Further wage increases for union workers seem out of the question this year in the light of a recent survey completed by the California Poll. Results of questioning hundreds of men and women voters throughout the state reveal that public sentiment is overwhelmingly opposed to anything even remotely resembling a "fourth round" of postwar wage increases in the months ahead.

The bugbear of higher prices is still standing alongside this question so far as the public is concerned. Even with recent signs of a downward trend, there are still widespread fears that any further upping of wage rates will only serve to whet inflationary forces.

The prevailing view among workers themselves is that wages should be held at their present levels. This is clear from answers to the following question put to a cross-section of this state's citizens by interviewers for the California Poll:

"There is some talk among unions about a wage increase. In general, do you think there should be a wage increase for union workers within the next few months, or not?"

Results are as follows:

	General Public	Union Workers	Non-union Workers
Yes	22%	34%	17%
No	67	52	73
Undecided	11	14	10

Both the pros and the cons in this argument take their cue from the same thing—the high cost of living. One side argues that high living costs necessitate higher wages. The other side argues that higher wages will only lead to higher prices and consumers will be no better off than they were before. Over half the people who don't want any tampering with union wage scales take this latter view.

But regardless of how prices may react, there are also many persons who feel that union workers don't need any general wage increase at this time. With their eye on advancing wage rates since the end of the war, they believe that union workers are already better off than most other segments of the population.

Another prominent reason given as to why union wages should not go up is as follows: If companies can afford to raise wages, they should instead lower their prices so that the public as a whole will benefit and not just the workers. Other arguments are that the wage demands now shaping up are nothing but union politics or evidences of union leaders trying to feather their nests.

A final question put to the voters by California Poll interviewers reveals unquestionably that it is further inflation the public basically fears should there again be general pay raises in the nation's major industries: "In your opinion, can union wages in general be increased without increasing prices?"

	General Public	Union Workers	Non-union Workers
Yes	26%	41%	15%
No	64	52	73
Undecided	10	7	12
